

It is with dismay that I see Sinclair Broadcasting is ordering its stations to air an anti-Kerry piece in prime time two weeks before the election. This is not a news documentary, but a blatant attempt to influence the election. Doesn't this break the election laws regarding the media? If they insist on doing this, aren't they at least required to air something from the opponent's side?

If you are unable to stop this chicanery, please remember their blatant disregard for law when it comes time to renew their license.

Thank you.
